GR directed colleges to waive fees for students from drought-hit areas of state

DEVANSHI SRIVASTAVA PUNE, MAY 9

TAKING COGNISANCE of colleges' non-compliance with a Government Resolution (GR) that provides tuition fee waivers to students from drought-affected areas of the state, the Maharashtra Human Rights Commission has summoned the Chief Secretary and Principal Secretary from the Education Department to appear before the panel on May 13.

asst director booked in bribery case

VIJAY KUMAR YADAV MUMBAI, MAY 9

THE DIRECTOR and assistant di-Maharashtra rector of Directorate of Archaeology and Museums were booked on May 7 after they were caught accepting a bribe of Rs 1.5 lakh, officials said.

According to personnel of Anti-Corruption Bureau Nashik unit, assistant director Aarti Mrunal Aley (41) was caught taking the money from a 32year-old man for an NOC to start a small business near the centuries-old Ramshej Fort in Nashik. She took the money at her residence on Tuesday.

"Though she was caught redhanded, Aley was not arrested as she delivered a baby eight days ago. She has been served a notice and directed to join the investigation," said Sharmistha Gharge-Walavalkar, Superintendent of Nashik ACB.

During its probe, the ACB found that she was acting on the instructions of Tejas Madan Garge, director of the State Directorate of Archaeology and

According to the ACB, the complainant wanted to start a small factory for his business of extracting oil from rubber tyres. But as the plant's location is close to Ramshej Fort, it was mandatory for him to first get a no-objection certificate (NOC) from the Archeology Department, Nashik. He prepared an application for the same and forwarded it to the department

"Aley processed his application and sent it to the head office. She got all procedures done and also received the clearance to issue the NOC to the complainant," said an ACB officer.

However, before handing over the NOC to the complainant, she demanded a bribe of Rs 1.50.000 on May 6. The complainant then approached ACB, which laid a trap and caught Aley on Tuesday.

After the ACB ascertained her superior's role, Tejas Garge was also booked in the case. A probe revealed he was encouraging Aley to take bribe from the complainant, said an ACB officer. A case was registered against the duo at the Indiranagar police station in Nashik city.

SI arrested for demanding mobile phone from accused to 'favour' his case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE MUMBAI, MAY 9

A 33-YEAR-OLD woman police sub-inspector has been arrested by the Mumbai unit of Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) for allegedly demanding a Samsung phone from a cable operator under the guise of favouring him in a case. The ACB officials revealed that as he did not wish to give in to her demands, he lodged a complaint following which the police officer was arrested.

According to the ACB officials. the woman police sub-inspector has been identified as Rajshree Shintre and she is posted at Amboli police station in the western suburbs of the city. The officials revealed that the complainant has a cable network and internet business in the Amboli area.

The commission said it was the duty of the government to provide good education and other facilities to students and called the inaction on part of the government a violation of human rights of the students concerned. Ambekar said, "Students have been running from pillar to post for basic sustenance. Some of them are still trying to continue their education against all odds, but without the help that they were promised, they will end up dropping out. Despite the state government GR and regular follow ups, many students have not been granted the required waivers from their colleges. Some had already paid their exam fee by the time the colleges started collecting data and then they were told that the amount will be sent to their accounts, but that has not happened either."

In Pune, bride donates blood before her wedding: 'The easiest way to help people'

INSIYA JOHAR & MEEMANSHA SRIVASTAVA PUNE, MAY 9

MAY 5 was a big day for Manasi Hingade Dhanave, 25, a resident of Pashan in Pune, as it was her wedding day. She woke up early and reached a salon. Once ready, she headed straight, not to the marriage hall, but to a blood donation camp in Baner. She chose to first donate blood and then head towards the wedding venue.

While blood donation is not new for Dhanave, she said that by doing so on her wedding day, she wanted to send out a message. "I wanted to tell people that donating blood is the easiest way to help. One bag of blood, if used appropriately, can save the lives of five people. Also, there's a shortage of blood during the summers as very few donors are found in these months because of the immense heat. Wedding is a very auspicious day in the life of a woman and doing such a good deed on the same day will make the day more prosperous and blessed," she said. The donation drive on May 5 organised by NGO Vasundhara Abhiyan and inaugurated by Dhanave.

Dhanave has finished her undergraduate degree in business administration in agriculture and her husband is a policeman attached to the Pune police.

"My husband and my in-laws were very supportive but could drive because of the pre-wedding rituals. However, my parents and cousins were there to support me," said Dhanave.

Wasn't she anxious to reach the venue and worried that she may delay the function because of the donation camp detour? 'Actually, we hadn't planned both these things to happen on the same day. But after I got to know that the drive was on the day of our wedding, I decided to go ahead, considering the message it would send out. The rituals were planned at 11 am, so I had to wake up early and rush to the salon get ready in advance.'

It took about an hour at the donation camp but she managed to reach the wedding venue, where the guests were waiting for the bride and the groom to tie the knot, on time.
